REPORT ON WORKSHOP ON COMMUNICATION SKILLS AND PERSONALITY DEVELOPMENT BY CVU

In accordance with the MoU signed with Commonwealth Vocational University, a one day workshop was organised on communication skills and personality development. The primary objective of the workshop was to enlighten students about the critical importance of communication skills in both educational pursuits and professional careers, while also focusing on enhancing their overall personality traits.

Objectives of the workshop:

- The main objective of the workshop was to create awareness among students regarding the significance of effective communication skills in their academic endeavors and future careers. Participants were introduced to the role of communication in various contexts, including classroom interactions, presentations, and workplace communication.

- The workshop also aimed to facilitate the development of students' personalities by elucidating various traits associated with a well-rounded individual. Through interactive sessions and discussions, attendees gained insights into the components of a good personality and tools for fostering personal growth and development.

The speaker engaged with participants throughout the session, employing interactive techniques to enhance learning and foster active participation. By facilitating discussions and conducting participative activities, the speaker effectively conveyed the importance of communication skills and provided practical insights into personality development.

Around 63 students participated in the workshop and availed themselves of the benefits offered by the session. Participants expressed appreciation for the engaging and informative nature of the workshop, highlighting its relevance to their academic and professional aspirations. Queries raised by attendees were thoughtfully addressed by the speaker, further enhancing their understanding of the workshop topics.

REPORT ON GUEST LECTURE ON VALUE BASED EDUCATION BY ISKON

Pursuant to the Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) established with the International Society for Krishna Consciousness (ISKCON), a guest lecture on Value-Based Education was organized. The lecture aimed to elucidate the significance of incorporating timeless life values, as provided in the Bhagavad Gita, into the contemporary educational framework.

The guest lecture garnered enthusiastic participation from the student community, with attendees actively engaging in discussions and reflections on the practical application of value-based principles in their academic and personal lives. The session served as a catalyst for introspection and self-improvement, inspiring students to embrace a value-centric approach to education.

The discourse elucidated how the values and teachings delineated in the Bhagavad Gita can be seamlessly integrated into the educational ecosystem. Emphasis was placed on cultivating qualities such as integrity, compassion, and resilience among students to foster holistic development.

The lecture underscored the role of Value-Based Education in enhancing concentration skills, which are indispensable for academic excellence and personal growth. Participants were encouraged to imbibe the principles of mindfulness and focus as prescribed in the Bhagavad Gita.

The guest lecture witnessed active participation from 53 students, who eagerly engaged in discussions and reflections on the practical application of value-based principles in their lives. Participants expressed appreciation for the profound insights gained during the session, acknowledging its potential to positively influence their academic endeavors and personal growth trajectories.
